

Methodical approach to assessment and ensuring economic security of an industrial complex of the region

Timur I. Samatov

e-mail: timsa07@gmail.com

Abstract

Classification of components of economic security of an industrial complex of the region is offered and methods of its providing are determined. The structure of conceptual model of ensuring economic security of an industrial complex of the region is defined. Methodical approach to assessment and ensuring economic security of an industrial complex of the region is offered.